

WORKERS PARTY North Belfast

socialist, secular and anti-sectarian

A new type of politics

The Assembly might be working for Sinn Fein and the DUP but its not delivering for the rest of us.

The Peace Process has served its purpose.

Now it's time for us to move on to a new Democratic Process.

That's why the Workers Party is calling for the democratisation of our institutions and an end to politics by sectarian headcount.

It's time for a principled left alternative at Stormont that is neither catholic nor protestant, nationalist nor unionist

With the Workers Party we can build that new political space.

John Lavery

Workers Party Assembly and Local Government candidate for North Belfast and Castle

Five things we'll do in the Assembly

- ★ Bring a new politics
- ★ Fight the cuts
- ★ Tackle sectarianism and racism
- ★ Create jobs
- ★ Plan the environment

Vote Against the Stormont Cuts

There is no need for cuts in public spending.

They are a political choice not an economic necessity.

Each year £123 billion is lost to the public purse in uncollected taxes and legal loopholes which allow big businesses, many of them household names, to pay no tax at all or very little on huge profits. If we cannot afford universal health care, university education and public services, we cannot afford to wage war in Iraq, Afghanistan and Libya.
